Essential Balkans

Croatia, Montenegro, Albania, Macedonia, Kosovo, Serbia, and Bosnia and Herzegovina

Flexible Essential Trip – Classic Private Journey – 14 Days

Start on any day of the week

The Balkan Peninsula in southeast Europe is surrounded on three sides by the Adriatic Sea, the Mediterranean and the Black Sea. A remarkably complex region, the mountainous peninsula is fascinating, diverse and incredibly beautiful. Its prime position has made it a meeting point of ancient Greece and Rome, Christianity and Islam. Agriculture made its way here from the Fertile Crescent, and ruins of Greek and Roman amphitheaters are tucked away in former capital cities. Visit seven Balkan countries in fourteen days on this compact overland journey through history. The circular driving itinerary begins in Split near Croatia's southern coastal tip. Drive east into Bosnia and Herzegovina to visit Mostar's UNESCO-listed bridge, as well as 1984 Winter Olympics host city, Sarajevo. Cross the border into Serbia, stopping in beautiful Belgrade before heading down to Macedonia and its Ottoman-influenced capital, Skopje. Make a day trip into Kosovo, and spend a night near the shore of UNESCO-listed Lake Ohrid on the way to Tirana, capital of Albania. Circle around to Montenegro's centuries-old city of Kotor, today a UNESCO World Heritage Site, before ending in Dubrovnik on the sun-washed Dalmatian Coast.

Daily Itinerary

Day One

Arrive Split, Croatia

On arrival in Split, transfer to the city and check in to the hotel. This evening meet your guide to discuss the program. Touring begins tomorrow morning. Split is the second-largest city in Croatia and is located on the Dalmatian Coast. The scenery of Split ranges from palm-lined promenades to ancient Roman ruins. The city became famous in the 3rd century when the Roman emperor Diocletian chose Split for the location of the palace he would eventually retire to. The palace ruins still stand today; they are listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, and are complemented by the ruins of the nearby village of Salona, which was deserted by the Romans in the 7th century. Meals: Independent/en route – Marmont Hotel, Comaro Hotel, or similar

Day Two Split

After breakfast, depart with your guide and driver for the nearby village of Trogir, a beautifully-preserved island town west of Split founded by Greek colonists in the 3rd century BC. Its medieval walled Old Town is a UNESCO World Heritage Site filled with Gothic and Romanesque churches, palaces and public buildings.

One of Trogir's finest sights is its Cathedral of St. Lawrence, known locally as Sveti Ivan, St. John's, after a 12th century bishop. Built over several centuries, the massive stone church was begun in the 13th and not finished until the 17th. Celebrated Croatian master sculptor Radovan carved the church's main portal, encrusted with figures of animals, angels, saints and ordinary people.

After time for an independent lunch, return to Split for an afternoon of touring. Built over Emperor Diocletian's 3rd century marble and limestone mausoleum, the Cathedral of St. Dujce (also known as the Cathedral of St. Domnius dedicated to St. Mary) with its monumental 11th century bell tower is a symbol of the city. The original mausoleum retains its 24 columns and its dome, once covered with mosaics. The carved cathedral doors are a fine example of Romanesque sculpture.

The small temple across from the Cathedral was originally dedicated to Jupiter, and displays a narrow statue of the god under the barrel vault ceiling. A headless black granite sphinx guards the entrance to the temple, which was used as a baptismal during the Christina era.

Next, visit Diocletian's Palace, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The palace was built in the 3rd century by the Roman emperor Diocletian as a residence for his upcoming retirement. The large-scale structure was, however, completely abandoned by the Romans not long after its construction and remained untouched for centuries. Finally, in the 7th century, nearby residents inhabited the protective walled structure while seeking refuge from invading barbarians. Since then, the population of the palace has remained steady, and the residents and businesses within the palace still make up old town Split today. The complex, which includes 220 remaining buildings, is the centerpiece of the city, and its marble covered structures are remarkably well-preserved and functional. Observe life within the palace walls, which has evolved to become a fascinating combination of old and new.

Return to the hotel for overnight.
Meals: B – Marmont Hotel, Comaro Hotel, or similar

Day Three

Split • Mostar, Bosnia and Herzegovina • Sarajevo

Depart early from Split, heading east to Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina. First, stop in Mostar en route. Founded in the 15th century, Mostar was an important Ottoman regional center until the late 19th century. Named after its Old Bridge, Stari Most, the town passed from the Ottomans to the Austro-Hungarian Empire in the late 19th century. After WWI, it became a part of newly-formed Yugoslavia. Engulfed in war after Bosnia and Herzegovina declared independence in 1992, the town was shelled repeatedly. Its Old Town, including its namesake bridge, was all but destroyed. After the war ended, UNESCO and donor nations launched a five-year project to rebuild the historic Old Town and the bridge in an effort to heal the deep ethnic divide that characterized the destruction. The resulting reconstruction was inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage List in 2005.

Touring today begins when you enter the early 17th century Koski Mehmed Pasha Mosque with its stained glass and massive chandelier and climb to the top of its slim minaret for a fine view of Stari Most, the river and the old part of town.

The beautifully proportioned Old Bridge in Mostar is a symbol of the city, standing in its original form for 427 years until it was destroyed in 1993. Commissioned by Suleiman the Magnificent and designed by a student of the famed Ottoman architect Mimar Sinan, the tall arch of the bridge radiates grace and power. Its reconstruction, which recreated the original silhouette, is considered a work of art as well as a gesture towards peace.

Next, visit the 350-year-old Turkish House, which was built for a wealthy Bosnian family and is representative of how the upper class lived then. Furnished in lush period carpets and dark woods, the house encloses private gardens and has a special room for women high above the street where they cannot be seen.

Wander the narrow cobbled streets of the old Kujundziluk Bazaar. Dating back to the 16th century, the Ottoman-era streets are lined with workshops selling copperware, carpets, jewelry and fabrics, as well as cafés and little restaurants serving savory Turkish dishes.

Following an independent lunch, continue on to Sarajevo for overnight.
Meals: B – Europa Hotel, Central Hotel, or similar

Day Four Sarajevo

Have breakfast at the hotel this morning before beginning a full day tour of the city. During the Bosnian War, Serbian and Yugoslav forces besieged and shelled the city of Sarajevo for over 1,000 days, the longest siege in the history of modern warfare. Between March and July of 1993, soldiers and citizens dug a 2,600-foot tunnel that linked the besieged city to the NATO-controlled airport. An estimated 20 tons of food was smuggled into the city through the tunnel, as were medical supplies and munitions. A small oil pipeline and electric and phone lines were laid through the tunnel; soldiers and seriously wounded people could be sent into and out of the city.

Visit the Sarajevo Tunnel Museum with a survivor who used the tunnel to get in and out of Sarajevo during the siege. 60 feet of the life-saving tunnel remain under the house where the tunnel began. A 20-minute film familiarizes you with the building and operation of the tunnel, and many of the original tools and materiel are on display.

Stroll through the Sarajevo's old Turkish quarter, Bascarsija, where the first bazaars were held and the stalls in the covered markets still sell handmade items and savory street food. The beautiful 16th century Gazi Husrev-bey Mosque is here in the old neighborhood as well.

The Gazi Husrev-beg Mosque (or Bey's Mosque, as it is also known) was commissioned in 1531 by the regional ruler, Gazi Husrev-beg. Located in the historic center of Sarajevo, the graceful domed mosque was renovated in 1996 and is considered a fine example of Ottoman architecture.

After an independent lunch, visit the Svrzina Kuca Oriental House, an 18th-century home decorated in a typical style for its era.

The Ottoman-era Latin Bridge with its four elegant arches over the Miljcka River was renamed the Princip Bridge after Gavrilo Princip, who assassinated the heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne. Calling himself "a Yugoslav nationalist", Princip was to become a Yugoslavian hero for his act. The spot where Princip stood to fire the shots that killed the Arch-Duke Ferdinand and his wife is marked with a plaque.

Today's touring ends with a visit to the National Museum of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Established in 1888, the National Museum is ensconced in a 20th century building with an Italian Renaissance facade. Its finest possession is the "Sarajevo Haggadah," possibly the oldest Sephardic Jewish manuscript in the world. An illuminated Passover Haggadah originating in Barcelona around 1350, the manuscript is hand-lettered on bleached calfskin and illuminated with copper and gold. Its 34 pages of illustrations are still brilliant today, though stained with wine from centuries of use. The Sarajevo Haggadah was added to UNESCO's Memory of the World Register in 2017. Please note: The Haggadah is only open to museum visitors on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and the first Saturday of every month from 12:00-1:00PM.

Return to the hotel for overnight.
Meals: B – Europa Hotel, Central Hotel, or similar

Day Five Sarajevo • Belgrade, Serbia

Breakfast at the hotel this morning prepares you for transfer to Belgrade, Serbia today. En route, stop for an independent lunch with recommendations from your driver.

Arrive in Belgrade, Serbia late this afternoon and enjoy the rest of the day free for rest or independent exploration.
Meals: B – Hotel Moskva or similar

Day Six Belgrade

Following breakfast at the hotel, set out on a full-day exploration of Belgrade with your guide and driver. Belgrade is the capital of Serbia, as it was the capital of a united Yugoslavia. The area around Belgrade supported human life as far back as Neolithic times. In the 1st century BC the Romans made it a border outpost, calling it Singidunum. Strategically located on the Danube, Singidunum became the starting point of the important Via Militaris road, and was the home of a Roman garrison for many years.

From then until the present day, Belgrade has been destroyed and rebuilt between 30 and 40 times by conquerors such as Attila the Hun, the Visigoths, the Magyars and the Turks. The Slavs first appeared in the 7th century, and managed to persist through many different dynasties.

Today Belgrade is a dynamic and sophisticated city of 1.7 million, swiftly becoming one of the hippest places in Europe. On an overview tour of the city, pass by the Cathedral of St. Sava, one of the largest Serbian Orthodox churches in the world, Slavija Square near the downtown, the 19th century Old Palace and the National Museum, among other sights.

One of the highlights of Belgrade is Kalemegdan Fortress, named by the Turks and meaning “fortress amid battlefields.” This ancient citadel includes what is left of Roman Singidunum and the Byzantine fortifications that followed. The Despot Gate and Roman Well are found in the fortress’ Upper Town and the 18th century Turkish baths in the Lower.

The "Roman Well" in Kalemegdan Fortress was actually built in the 18th century. The well is said to have been built over an earlier Roman well, is 167 feet deep, with two spiral staircases that intersect about halfway down. Probably dug during the Austrian reconstruction of the fortress, the well was abandoned and used as a place to dispose of prisoners.

Skadarlija is the bohemian quarter of Belgrade, originally the Gypsy Quarter, where gypsies pitched their tents in front of the town ramparts. Later populated by writers and artists, the area had numerous inns that played host to many of Serbia's best-loved authors and actors. Today a vibrant and busy area filled with shops, coffee houses and restaurants, it is sometimes compared with Paris' Montmartre district.

Following lunch, enter the Palace of Princess Ljubica, wife of Prince Milos Obrenovic, whose residence was built in 1831 in the Balkan style, fusing Ottoman and Hapsburg traditions. The well-preserved noble palace contains costumes and furnishings from Princess Ljubica's tenure here, from 1831 to 1843.

Finally, visit the House of Flowers, the mausoleum of Josip Broz Tito, set in a winter garden complex near his former home. Built in 1975, the House of Flowers was designed as a retreat for the Yugoslav leader, who was buried here according to his wishes in 1980.

Meals: B – Hotel Moskva or similar

Day Seven

Belgrade • Skopje, Macedonia

This morning after breakfast, depart with your driver for Skopje. En route, stop for an independent lunch with suggestions from your driver .

Upon arrival in Skopje this evening, check in to the hotel for the night.

Meals: B – Alexander Square Boutique Hotel, Aleksander Palace Hotel, or similar

Day Eight

Skopje • day trip to Pristina, Kosovo

This morning, meet your driver for the transfer to Pristina, Kosovo for a short day trip. Upon arrival, meet your local expert guide and begin touring.

Pristina is the capital of Kosovo, the Balkans territory that declared independence from Serbia in February of 2008. The population of some 207,000 has a majority of ethnic Albanians. In existence since late Roman times, Pristina was an important Serbian capital for many years before it was conquered by the Ottoman Turks in the late 14th century. Architecture and culture were strongly influenced by its years under Ottoman rule. In particular, the 19th century clock tower near the bazaar, the 15th century Imperial Mosque and nearby public bath, or hammam, are of interest. Also, walk by the Parliament building and the Skanderbeg Monument, dedicated to Albania's hero. Spend about two hours taking in the sites here together, and then enjoy an independent lunch.

After lunch, return to Skopje for an afternoon of touring. Macedonia's capital and largest city, Skopje has a population of about 500,000. The area has been inhabited since the Neolithic Age and has been ruled at various times by ancient Rome, Byzantium, the First Bulgarian Empire and the Ottoman Turks. Its Ottoman influence can be seen best in the wonderful old Turkish quarter, where the teeming bazaar displays hand-loomed carpets, antique silver, spices, woven pillows and nargileh (water pipes). Old caravanserais have been transformed into traditional restaurants and little cafes and cubbyhole shops line the streets. This is where Saint Teresa (formerly known as Mother Teresa) was born and raised, and there is a monument to her on the main street.

Visit the Old Stone Bridge over the Vardar River. The bridge was built by Mehmet the Conqueror in the mid-15th century, providing a pedestrian link between the Old Bazaar and the newer part of the city.

Next, tour the the medieval Skopje Fortress. Located on the highest point of Skopje's Old Town, the fortress was built over older Byzantine fortifications. Its massive stone walls rise about the Vardar River.

Opened in 2009, the Memorial House of Saint Teresa (formerly Mother Teresa) was built over the site where she was baptized almost 100 years before. The memorial includes a modern re-imagining of the house where she grew up, combined with a chapel and an auditorium. Exhibits include photos, documents and artifacts from her early life in Skopje and her humanitarian work in India.

Return to the hotel for overnight.

Meals: B – Alexander Square Boutique Hotel, Aleksander Palace Hotel, or similar

Day Nine
Skopje • Ohrid

Following breakfast at the hotel, depart for Ohrid with your driver. Upon arrival in Ohrid, meet your local expert guide for a full day of touring. Ohrid is one of the oldest human settlements in Europe, and along with Lake Ohrid, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. First mentioned in 363 BC under its ancient name of Lychnidos, the town is today a popular destination for Macedonians. Its St. Pantelejmon Monastery is the oldest Slav monastery in the world. Ohrid abounds with ancient archaeological sites, including an amphitheater and a fortress. Its antiquities, red-roofed old houses, beautiful setting and fabulous collection of medieval icons combine to make it a riveting town.

The first stop today is Heraclea, founded by Philip II of Macedon near the middle of the 4th century BC. Conquered by the Romans in the 2nd century BC, Heraclea was an important stop on the Via Egnatia Road. Several Roman monuments remain here, including baths and an amphitheater. Byzantine ruins are here as well, including several basilicas with rich mosaics. Following an independent lunch, visit Ohrid's 11th century Church of St. Sophia, which sits at the foot of the hill near the lakeshore, its heavy stone walls protecting medieval treasures. Some of its frescoes were painted by one of the most important artists of the time, Theoranius. During Ottoman times, the frescoes were plastered over, a desecration that turned out to have preserved them nicely.

Sitting high above the lake, just past the upper gateway leading to the old town and fortified medieval stone fortress, is Ohrid's 13th-century Church of Sveta Bogorodica Perivlepta. Modeled after Byzantine monasteries in southern Greece, this classic red-brick church contains several important and well-preserved frescoes from the late medieval period, painted by master Greek artists Michael Astrapas and Eutybios, which demonstrate the early beginnings of the European Renaissance movement. During the Ottoman era, sacred relics from St. Clement's Church were saved from destruction and transferred here for protection, as were a number of other important artifacts and historic records from nearby churches in the surrounding area. Some of these treasures became part of the collection at the Icon Gallery, located directly across from the church.

According to recent archaeological excavations, our next stop, the great medieval stone fortress above Ohrid's Old Town, was built over a much more ancient one, perhaps built by Phillip of Macedon. In the 11th century, the fortress was the capital of the First Bulgarian Empire, ruled by King Samuil.

Another archaeological site, Plaoshnik, sits on a hill above Ohrid features the painstaking reconstruction of St. Clement's Church, accurately rebuilt according to its Byzantine architectural plans. Originally constructed by St. Clement in 893 over the remains of an even earlier church, it was dedicated to St.

Pantaleon and became the center of a monastery and important literary school. The reconstructed church includes glass floor segments revealing the foundations of the earlier church. St. Clement's relics were returned here in 2002.

Ohrid is also surrounded by old fortifications, some from as early as the 3rd century BC. Reinforced many times over the centuries, the walls include traces of four gates, one of which used to connect with the ancient Greek amphitheater.

Later this afternoon, board a small private boat on Lake Ohrid for a 30-45 minute boat ride, enjoy the beautiful water and surroundings of the lake.

Return to the hotel after touring for an independent dinner and overnight.
Meals: B – Hotel City Palace or similar

Day Ten Ohrid • Tirana, Albania

Set out from the hotel today for the half-day drive to Tirana, the capital of Albania. Upon arrival, begin a full day of touring with your local expert guide.

Tirana is located 20 km from the Adriatic on the Ishm River. Until it became the capital in the 1920s, Tirana was a small 17th century town with no more than 12,000 people living here. Urbanization efforts began in the 1950s, and Nikita Khrushchev laid the first stone of the Palace of Culture in 1959. Since the collapse of Albania's communist government in the early 1990s, many of the grim Soviet-type buildings have been repainted in bright colors, and new restaurants and cafés are springing up. Centering on Skanderbeg Square, named in honor of the national hero responsible for defeating the Ottomans, the town is easiest to explore on foot.

Get a feel for the long, often-troubled history of Albania at the National History Museum. The museum is divided into several different rooms, each representing a different era in Albanian history from its past as Illyria to its present as an independent, democratic nation. There are some placards in English and visitors of any nationality can understand the large mosaic on the building's facade, a visual representation of thousands of years of Albanian history.

Following lunch, visit the Et'hem Bey Mosque in the center of Tirana. Construction on the mosque began in 1789 and finished by Et'hem Bey, the great-grandson of Suleiman Pasha Bargjini. Its frescoes depict rarely-allowed natural features such as waterfalls and trees.

Nearby, and also built by Et'hem Bey, is the Clock Tower in Skanderberg Square. You can climb this 19th century tower's 90 stairs for great views from the top.

Finally, take the 2.6-mile cable car from the outskirts of Tirana up to Dajti Mountain for fabulous views of the city and the surrounding wooded national park. The 14-minute ride ascends to the “Balcony of Tirana,” 3,445 feet above sea level.

Dinner tonight is independent, followed by overnight at the hotel.

Meals: B – Opera Hotel or similar

Day Eleven

Tirana • Kruja • Shkodra • Kotor, Montenegro

Depart after breakfast today to head for Kotor, Montenegro. En route, stop for touring in Kruja and Shkodra.

On the side of a hill at the foot of limestone peaks, the citadel of Kruja looks down on the town. From here, in 1450, the charismatic leader Skanderbeg and his small hand-picked army defeated the Ottoman Sultan Murad II's army of 100,000. Visit the restored castle and citadel, with its Skanderbeg Museum and bazaar.

Withstanding numerous attacks from the Ottoman Turks, the fortress in Kruja marked the last stand before Albania fell to the conquering empire in 1478. Albania's rebel forces, led by Gjergj Kastriot Skanderbeg, withstood years of battle, and the castle now serves as both a historical landmark and a symbol of the fierce national pride that Albanians feel. A museum inside the castle allows visitors to learn more about Skanderbeg, Albania's national hero.

Take a tour of the fascinating Ethnographic Museum, in the large traditional home of an 18th century general. The house is filled with period furnishings and implements, such as a built-in butter churn, a loom, a flour mill and wonderful rugs and embroidered fabrics.

Next, browse the wooden stalls of the medieval Turkish bazaar, a great place to shop for traditional handicrafts such as alabaster jewelry, silver filigree, hand-carved wooden items and hand-loomed carpets.

Outside medieval Kruja, there is a newer settlement called New Kruja. This small place is often referred to as "Bush Town," to commemorate the 2007 visit by former President G.W. Bush, the first U.S. president to pay a visit to Albania. Recently a new monument dedicated to the President was erected.

Continue on to Shkodra this afternoon. Resting on the shores of Lake Skadar near the Adriatic Coast and the border with Montenegro, Shkodra's appeal comes from both its striking setting and its multifaceted history. Though most of its inhabitants are Muslim and Shkodra was once known as a center of Islamic scholarship, the city retains close ties to Italy through its Roman Catholic minority. A walk through town reveals Albanian patriotic statues, a clocktower built by an eccentric Englishman, several large mosques and a large citadel on the south side of the city that offers views out across the lake.

Following an independent lunch, depart for Kotor. Upon arrival check in to your hotel and enjoy an independent dinner.

Meals: B – Hotel Astoria or similar

Day Twelve

Kotor • Perast • Dubrovnik, Croatia

This morning, visit some of the highlights of Kotor before departing for Dubrovnik, Croatia.

The small city of Kotor, with a population of some 13,500 souls, is a double UNESCO site. Its first UNESCO listing, in 1979, is in honor of its harmonious architecture, its lovely setting on the Bay of Kotor, and its historical role in the waxing and waning of the Venetian city-state. In 2017, the city was included on a list of six properties making up the “Venetian Works of Defense between the 16th and 17th Centuries: Stato da Terra – Western Stato da Mar. Its well-preserved medieval walls, stretching three miles above the city, delineate its Old Town, where narrow alleyways connect palaces and churches, including the 12th century Cathedral of St. Tryphon.

The Cathedral of Saint Tryphon is the largest and most impressive building in Kotor. Originally constructed in the 12th century, the cathedral was destroyed in a 1667 earthquake. At the time of rebuilding two baroque bell towers were added, but due to inadequate funding money for reconstruction ran out, leaving the towers mismatched. Inside is a lovely ornate altar screen that masks holy relics of the church.

Following touring in Kotor, depart for Dubrovnik, with an en route stop in Perast. The lovely baroque seaside town of Perast claims a population of just over 350 today. In its heyday under the Venetian Republic, however, nearly 2,000 people lived and worked in this splendid setting. The city has 16 baroque palaces and 17 Catholic Churches from the 17th and the 18th centuries.

Board a small boat bound for the little artificial islet of Our Lady of the Rocks in Kotor Bay. According to legend it was built up over the centuries by sailors who threw rocks into the bay here in thanks for successful voyages. On the tiny island stands the atmospheric old Catholic Church, built of stone in 1632.

Following an independent lunch, continue on to Dubrovnik. Upon arrival check in to your hotel and enjoy an independent dinner.
Meals: B – Hotel Lero or similar

Day Thirteen Dubrovnik

This morning, set out with your guide and driver on a full-day exploration Croatia's capital. Dubrovnik has been under attack by armies and by earthquakes many times, but careful restoration work has been a hallmark of the city ever since it was severely damaged in a 1667 earthquake. More recently, the Institute for the Restoration of Dubrovnik was founded in 1979 after another earthquake. This entity – with the help of donations from around the world – is responsible for restoring the city after the 1991 shelling by the Serbs. It was impossible, however, to match the color of the original tiles, since the original tile factory shut down in the 1950s.

Take a leisurely walk on the wide city walls that have protected Dubrovnik since the 13th century. Punctuated by sturdy square fortresses and round towers, the walls encircle the Old Town, and afford wonderful views of land and sea.

Then, visit the Museum of Dubrovnik in the Rector's Palace, with its artifacts, furniture and paintings. The "rector" of Dubrovnik was a short-term appointee who for a month could only leave the palace on official business.

Dubrovnik's beautiful 17th century Assumption Cathedral was built in the Roman baroque style over the remains of several former churches destroyed by earthquakes. A wonderful three-panel painting of the Assumption of the Virgin by Titian adorns the altar. Next door is the Cathedral Treasury, displaying more than 200 sacred objects, including a purported fragment of the True Cross.

Following an independent lunch, venture outside of the city to visit the ancient Dalmatian town of Cavtat, which began as a Greek settlement called Epidaurus. Take a walking tour through the cobbled streets to the Racic Family mausoleum, designed and decorated by famed Croatian sculptor Ivan Mestrovic.

Though only some 15 miles away from Dubrovnik, the Konavle region, located at the southernmost tip of Croatia between the Bosnian and Montenegrin borders, boasts a uniquely lush and green landscape that seems a world away from Dubrovnik's dry and rugged coastline. Surrounded by both the mountains and the sea, this is one of Croatia's most agriculturally fertile areas, with perhaps its most famous product being malvasija, a native grape that produces a very rich and full-bodied white wine.

Explore one of the old water mills on the River Ljuta and walk in the riverside park. Then continue to the centuries-old Glavic House for a tasting of Southern Dalmatian specialties.

Return to the city for an independent dinner and overnight at the hotel.

Meals: B – Hotel Lero or similar

Flexible Essential Trips – Classic Private Journeys

Flexible Essential Private Trips are compact, well-designed private tour itineraries – researched and ready to book on the dates you choose. They work perfectly as brief overviews of a country or as effortless extensions to group tours – great for solo travelers, couples, or private parties who prefer to travel independently but appreciate a savvy pre-designed program.

Important Notes: Is This Trip Right For You?

While the accommodations are designed to be comfortable for travel in this part of the world, they will vary from small, moderate three star to four star hotels, some quite small, with basic amenities and services. (Please see Hotel Upgrade pricing section above if interested in upgrading hotels.) It is important to keep in mind that the countries of the Balkans may not be up to the standards North American travelers expect. Services are improving in the region; nevertheless you may encounter problems with plumbing, bureaucratic service, road conditions, unpaved sidewalks, uneven surfaces and steps and availability and quality of public restrooms. Some areas, relatively speaking, have seen few travelers, and the infrastructure is not yet fully developed.

While this program is designed to be the most comfortable possible for travel in this region, this is an adventuresome trip. It is rated as rigorous touring due to the daily walking involved, some long driving days, the conditions of some roads, and the overall shortcomings of the tourism infrastructure. This itinerary features a significant amount of touring on foot. Many streets are of cobblestone, and some attractions are only accessible via steep staircases. Museums rarely have elevators. Flexibility and a sense of humor are essential components of the enjoyment of your trip.

Every effort has been made to ensure that the information in this schedule is accurate. However, trip itineraries are always subject to change. We do our best to inform you in advance of any changes, but due to the nature of travel in these countries, this may not always be possible.

Weather

This region of Europe enjoys a transitional maritime/continental climate, with warm summers and fairly mild winters. Spring and summer are the best times to travel here, particularly when driving overland. These are all agricultural countries, with the landscape varying from cultivated fields to forests. In May and June, temperatures throughout typically range from lows in the mid 50s to highs in the mid- to upper 70s. In July and August highs often get into the 80s and above, with September and October bringing cooler temperatures again, and the possibility of more rain.

Please remember, weather at all times of year has an element of the unpredictable. This information comes from weatherbase.com and is based on data from previous temperatures on record. It is always advisable to check with weatherbase.com closer to your departure date for current conditions and forecasts for the specific region you will be visiting.

International Airfare

MIR's in-house, full-service air department is available to assist with your air travel needs. Check with MIR before booking air on your own, as we are happy to research and compare the best fares available through multiple channels. Airfare varies depending on a wide variety of factors, such as dates of travel and seasonality, seat availability, special airline promotions, how restrictive ticket changes are, how long the fares can be held without purchase, routing considerations such as stopovers, and more. Tour dates are based on the land tour only. Our preferred carrier for this tour is Lufthansa, as they offer convenient itineraries and competitive rates from multiple cities across the U.S. to Croatia.

Please call us at 800-424-7289 to discuss air options and routings for this program, and to request a quote for your specific plans and dates of travel. We will be happy to put together a no-obligation suggested air itinerary and estimate for you at your request.

Visas

U.S. passport holders do not require visas for the Balkan countries. Citizens of other countries may require visas; please contact us for more details. Visa prices are always subject to change.
